Alexander Budrevics & Associates Ltd. is sincerely committed to servicing our Clients and delivering our projects on schedule, while protecting our staff and the community at large. We have instituted a high level of personal hygiene and social distancing within our office to reduce the amount of exposure, and are actively addressing health and business concerns.

In response to this unprecedented global situation our team has :

- Taken extra measures to keep our office environment clean following the directions of the World Health Organization and the Government of Canada
- Enacted measures to permit any team member to stay home if they have recently travelled outside of Canada, have had any potential exposure to the virus in public places, or are experiencing any signs of sickness personally or among family members
- Site inspections will take place but we are discouraging external meetings with Clients or project teams that cannot guarantee maximum compliance with social distancing recommendations
- Provided technology to specific members of our staff to effectively work from home while staying in communication with our Clients and project team

We are actively monitoring the news around the COVID-19 outbreak and will update our current practices as may be recommended by public authorities.

Please feel free to contact me directly should you have any questions or concerns about this matter on my mobile 416-580-7228.

May Good Health and Peace be with You.
